TORNADO DEAD NUMBERED 400 BURIED TODAY

Floods Threaten Desolate Towns in Dixie

Gainesville, Ga., April 8.—(AP)—Almost 400 storm dead of Gainesville and of Tupelo, Miss., went to hastily dug graves today, in some instances in group burials for sanitation reasons.

Across a half dozen southern states, but avoiding these two towns for the time being, sluggishly rising streams sent yellow floods over hundreds of thousands of acres of land and brought a fresh menace to life and property.

The total dead from storm and flood this week stood at 426, with the latest count at Tupelo 195 and at Gainesville 185.

Through the two towns stricken in a grimly similar manner, swarms of relief workers moved purposefully, helping revive a measure of community activity.

Residents rendered destitute in the whirling blasts of tornadoes lasting only a few minutes but causing damage it will take years to erase, were cheered by word that President Roosevelt had allocated $2,500,000 for rehabilitation through the WPA.

The torrents of rain that accompanied and followed the high twisting winds inundated hundreds of thousands of acres in a half dozen southern states, but brought no immediate menace to Tupelo and Gainesville.

37 Foot Crest Expected
Chattanooga, Tenn., expected a crest of 36 to 37 feet on the Tennessee river, 6 to 7 feet above flood level, during the day.

Two hundred families were evacuated from Barlow, Ky., in the valley of the swollen Ohio river near Paducah, Ky.

The Mississippi threatened in isolated places, and in Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas several streams approached the danger level.

Here the Red Cross was caring for about 4,000 homeless. The few stores left standing reopened for business as truckloads of foodstuffs and other supplies began moving in. A similar situation existed in Tupelo.

City and relief officials ordered burial today of the many still unidentified dead. There were 18 in this group here.

At Tupelo the 13 bodies of what once was the Burroughs family were interred in a single 35-foot grave.

The threat of pestilence, constantly guarded against, seemed not to be serious today although health officers still were inoculating the injured against typhoid and other maladies.

Looting and other offenses were at a minimum with militiamen and policemen standing 24-hour watches.

Edwardsville Man Succeeds Banker; Tax Commission

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—(AP)—Charles W. Terry, attorney of Edwardsville, today assumed his duties as a member of the Illinois tax commission, succeeding John C. Martin, Salem banker and former state treasurer.

His appointment was announced yesterday by Governor Horner's office here.

Martin resigned as chairman of the commission in January, but the resignation was not accepted until March 16. Martin and Governor Horner broke when Martin accepted endorsement of the Kelly-Nash organization in his campaign for nomination for state treasurer. He is chairman of the Illinois emergency relief commission.

BURNS KILL BABY

Champaign, Ill., April 8.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of "accidental death" as a result of burns in the fatal burning of Larry Bowdrie, 23 months old, who fell into a pail of scalding water Monday while his mother was doing laundry work. He died last night.

SOME ODDITIES IN TODAY'S A. P. WORLD NEWS REPORT

ORATORICAL COPS.
Minneapolis, April 8.—(AP)—Argument with policemen is going to be tougher than ever in Minneapolis. Fifteen patrolmen today began studying oratory under Detective Ed Ryan, graduate of a speech course at the University of Minnesota. In prospect is extension of the plan to include all minions of the law.

DEAD MAN ELECTED.
Kewashum, Wis., April 8.—(AP)—A dead man was a duly elected supervisor of Washington county today.

He was Emil C. Backhaus, who died at 6 A. M. yesterday—a few hours before the villagers cast their votes. Poll officials informed voters of his death before they entered the booths but 64 voted for Backhaus and 34 wrote in the name of W. M. Roseheimer, who previously had announced he would not accept the position.

UNSOUGHT HONORS.
New Douglas, Ill., April 8.—(AP)—Three men who weren't candidates, and none of whom received more than five votes, found themselves office holders here today.

Philip Crane, who got four votes, came out of the township election a justice of the peace. D. I. Everetts and Louis Weber, with four and five votes respectively, were named constables.

There were no candidates for any of the three offices to be filled, and voters wrote in names of the "winners" on blank ballots.

DOG WAS ACQUITTED.
Herrin, Ill., April 8.—(AP)—A small dog owned by Harvey Harris, a farmer, was clear today of a charge of inciting a big dog to bite.

The accusation, contained in a $5,000 damage suit filed against Harris by counsel for William Slater, declared Slater had suffered permanent injuries from an attack by a "big dog."

The motion alleged that though the small dog did not itself actually bite Slater, it did accompany the big dog and contribute to the attack "by aiding, abetting and encouraging said big dog to bite and wound the person of said Slater, to the hurt of said Slater and against the peace and dignity of the state."

The complaint asserted Harris, as owner of the small dog should be held liable. City Judge R. T. Cook threw the case out of court yesterday.

Former Superintendent of Princeton's Schools in Verbal Engagement With Senator Norris Today

Washington, April 8.—(AP)—Last session's battle over the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill was refought before a Senate agriculture subcommittee today in a hot exchange between Senator Norris (R-Neb.) and Hugh S. Magill, former head of Princeton, Ill. schools.

The president of the American Federation of Investors had read a prepared statement attacking the Norris bill to set up a Mississippi Valley Authority similar to TVA as "in harmony with the Russian system of government," when Norris asked him if he approved of the methods followed by the power interests trying to defeat the holding company measure.

PROGRESSIVES IN WISCONSIN FOR PRESIDENT

Results of Primaries Show Swing of LaFollette Party

Milwaukee, April 8.—(AP)—Wisconsin voters registered a two-to-one preference for President Franklin D. Roosevelt over Senator William E. Borah, aspirant for the Republican nomination, in incomplete returns today from yesterday's primary election.

The Idaho senator was given overwhelming control of the Wisconsin delegation of 24 votes at the Republican national convention, rolling up an impressive lead over a slate of uninstructed delegates.

Thousands of voters who apparently paid little attention to the convention delegates contests turned out to give their endorsement to Roosevelt.

Candidates pledged to the president took control of the 24 national convention seats—same number as the Republicans—but ran far behind Roosevelt in the balloting.

Advisory Procedure
In the preference primary, an advisory procedure independent of the delegate elections, 1831 precincts out of the state's 2,918 gave—Roosevelt 234,776; Borah 104,494.

The fact that Roosevelt and Borah ran far ahead of their tickets afforded some clue as to the course taken in the elections by the LaFollette progressives, who had no ticket of their own.

The results indicated the Progressives, unhampered by any state election law which would prevent their doing so, split up their support, giving most of it to Roosevelt who has been friendly to them.

Socialist Mayor Daniel W. Hoan was re-elected in a close race with Sheriff Joseph J. Shimmers, non-partisan, but faced the prospect of a four year tenure without veto power over the city council.

Socialists Beaten
Hoan's personal popularity carried him to victory while his running mates were going down to defeat, some of them by a 2 to 1 vote.

Returns from 373 out of 397 precincts gave: Hoan 103,100; Shimmers 90,548.

Hoan, who Tuesday will begin his 21st year as the city's chief executive, will not have a fellow Socialist at the head of another elective office. The non-partisans swept their candidates to victory in the contests for city attorney, treasurer and comptroller.

The Socialists also lost control of the council. Five Socialist aldermen, and possibly a sixth, were victorious but ten are required to sustain the mayor's veto.

They were Mrs. Edward Ponto, 43, and her two sons, Edgar, 16, and Ralph 11. The father attempted to rescue the three, but was unsuccessful. He was suffering from shock and exposure.

The two boys were coasting on a sled over the ice of the pond when they broke through. The mother rushed frantically to save them and the father followed. Ponto was unable to reach the three and barely saved his own life.

Democrats Seek to Prevent Investigation of Harry Hopkins' Spending of Almost 5 Billions

Washington, April 8.—(AP)—Harry L. Hopkins, called before a house appropriations subcommittee today on President Roosevelt's request for a new $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation, faced a demand from Republican members for a "full accounting" of this year's $4,880,000,000 fund.

The Republicans were primed with questions for the long-awaited appearance of the works progress administrator. It was their first chance to question him since the $4,880,000,000 was appropriated last year.

The hearing marked the first congressional action on Roosevelt's three-weeks-old request for $1,500,000,000 for next year's program.

BUT THREE OF 14 ABOARD AIR- PLANE ESCAPE

Hostess on Liner Heroine of Tuesday's Tragedy

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)
Uniontown, Pa., April 8.—From the shattered instruments of the Transcontinental & Western Airline's luxury Sun Racer, government and company officials tried today to determine the cause of the crash that killed 11 persons and injured three in the wastelands of desolate Chestnut Ridge.

While investigators scanned the wreckage after trudging up a muddy trail, relatives of the victims came to a Uniontown morgue to claim the mangled bodies.

Dennis Mulligan, a department of commerce investigator, said a public hearing probably would be held in Uniontown in a day or two, with a more extensive inquiry in Pittsburgh later.

The three survivors are in the Uniontown hospital. Doctors said all had good chances to recover. Among the dead are the two who could have told most about the battle with the fog—the pilots.

Hostess Heroine
Petite Nellie Granger, hostess on the California-bound Sun Racer, was the heroine of the disaster. Although injured herself, she stumbled miles through the underbrush to a forest warden's home.

There he telephoned the news and insisted on going back to remain with the two injured until help came. Hours later she told the story of how the unsuspecting passengers hurtled to their deaths.

The Dead:
Charles H. Smith, 14, Arnold, Pa., student at Valley Forge Military Academy.
D. O. August, 17, Grove City, Pa., Valley Forge student.
Crawford Kelly, 38, McEster, Pa., Valley Forge student.
Robert G. Evans, 16, Wayne, Pa., Valley Forge student.
Stanley H. Bayersdorfer, a president of Hub department store, Steubenville, Ohio.
Frank Hardin, Jersey City, delegate to the union nonworkers' convention in St. Louis.
John O'Neill, Jersey City, also a delegate.
G. B. D'Arcy, New York.
G. W. Heffernan, New York.
Pilot Otto Ferguson, Kansas City.
Co-pilot H. C. Lewis, Kansas City.

The Injured:
Hostess Nellie Granger, Dravosburg, Pa., cut on leg and body.
Mrs. Meyer C. Elfenstein, wife of the mayor of Newark, N. J., critically injured.
C. C. Challinor, Cleveland and New York, both ankles broken.
Stopped watches on two of the dead convinced Lieut. George Pickering of the highway patrol and Coroner S. A. Baltz that the tragedy occurred at 10:20 A. M. Ten minutes earlier Pilot Ferguson enroute from Newark, N. J., radioed he was flying through thick weather by his instruments and would not land at Pittsburgh—50 Miles Off Course.

Jack Frye of Transcontinental Airways, said in New York the Sun Racer was flying on a special radio beam but was 50 miles off its course.

Frye said that about the time of the crash another TWA plane, eastbound, was delayed in landing because of interruption of a radio course beam for interspersions of weather reports. He said without further information he could not say whether a beam interruption could have contributed to the wreck.

The commerce department in Washington, said, however, a check on beacons by an air commerce bureau pilot showed them to be "accurate and functioning." The report added two commercial pilots also reported the beams all right.

Lieut. Pickering and other investigators who reached the desolate mountainside seven miles from Uniontown soon after Miss Granger's report said the big transport crashed with terrific force.

Through Underbrush
One wing apparently was ripped off by the limb of a tree while the ship skimmed the hilltop. It hurtled on to tear through a hundred yards of underbrush and scattered pieces of wreckage for hundreds of feet.

HIT AND MISS.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

WHEN we are young life is before us; when we are old it is behind us—having doubled back on the road.

To love is to live; we are what we admire, what we love, and if we do not love anything, we do not live at all.

Today, if age says "Do," youth asks to know why? If age says "Don't," at once youth demands to know why not?

Of Robert Lovel, one of the Old Benchers, Charles Lamb said, "He was a man of incorrigible and losing honesty."

Some people are so mortally afraid of spilling over that they are drying up, becoming crusty in their kindness.

All the high virtues are unreasonable—faith becomes a real power only when further belief seems absurd.

Men are unevenly developed—as when we see the mind of a philosopher attached to the appetite of a pig.

"All or nothing" is a bad bargain—it leaves no room for flexibility, no chance for the charm of give and take.

An ideal is like a butterfly—as we see it flying away it is beautiful; when it is caught its color is gone.

If you don't mind your own business, I'll buy my wife a new hat, then you'll have to buy your wife one, too!

Does a fib, or an off-color story, or knifing somebody in the back by a gossip half-jest, add to the joy of life?

"Take care which rut you choose; you will be in it for the next twenty miles," said a guide to a man in Canada.

"If fondness is not always in our power, kindness always is," said dear old Dr. Johnson, and he proved it to the hilt.

Art Lovers To Honor Taft on His 76th Birthday

Lorado Taft, American sculptor whose fame has gone to the four corners of the globe and whose genius in stone and prose has touched hundreds of thousands, was born in Illinois on April 29, 1860. His seventy-fifth birthday last year, was an occasion of honor. Many men important in the arts and in letters wrote, congratulating him on reaching this milestone in a career that has been full of distinction. This spring a concerted action is being contemplated whereby the whole of Illinois shall honor Mr. Taft on his seventy-sixth birthday. Lorado Taft differs from many celebrated artists in that his heart has been centered always on two things, his art and the people. He has been, and is, a simple man—one who has no use for insincerity and affectation. He is a friend to the worker, the thinker, and to youth. His talks on sculpture were one of the great features of the Art institute up to a few years ago. Those Sunday afternoon lectures in Fullerton hall were given to packed houses. He has inspired many little towns in Illinois and touched the heart strings of innumerable high schools. He has played upon the youth of the state as upon a harp, calling out the best from boys and girls who sat before him in crowded assemblies. There is scarcely one town in the state where his name is not known and revered.

Studio Attracts Many Visitors

The love and pride which Illinois has in her distinguished son may find utterance this April. A movement is on foot to recognize Mr. Taft on his birthday in some manner which will convey to him the very real liking and respect which are his from every Illinois citizen who knows him and his work. Of the little group of painters and sculptors to whom he belongs in time very few are left. The celebration of his birthday in some way that will include the state in its program will bring back those who are gone for a little while.

Among Lorado Taft's important groups of sculpture are "The Fountain of Time," "Blackhawk," "Alma Mater," "Fountain of the Great Lakes," "The Crusader," "Danville Soldiers' Monument," and "Lincoln."

Mr. Taft graduated from the University of Illinois, and then went to Paris, where he studied in the Ecole des Beaux Arts. He opened a studio in Chicago in 1886 and his first work of importance was the decoration of the Horticultural building for the Columbian exposition. Today, half a century later, Mr. Taft is still living and working in Chicago. In the Midway studios, not far from his first studio, his place has drawn visitors from all over the world to its doors. Lorado Taft's genius is the magnet for a universal homage, the greater for the modesty that would depreciate it.

In thinking of schools and art one turns easily from sculpture to painting and, in these days, to murals. Morgan Park Military academy has a magnificent mural depicting Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims painted by Howard Church upon the walls of its library. James O'Donnell Bennett of the Chicago Tribune has written a glowing description of its beauties in a little pamphlet published by the school. It is obvious from Mr. Bennett's text, and from the illustrations, that this mural stands head and shoulders above the pink propaganda into which so much of contemporary mural painting has degenerated.

Mr. Church has used a glorious theme gloriously. There is the living quality of romance in his magnificently drawn figures. The details are infinitely intriguing. The birds and horses are as individually perfect as the men.

PENALTY IS PAID—EVENTUALLY

In our system of dealing with criminals the guilty one pays the penalty eventually.

There are three principal ends sought in our processes of dealing with offenders. Some times we seek to separate the criminal from society so that no other person shall be his victim. Some times we seek to reform the offender and give him a chance to take a proper place in society. In all cases we seek to make an example that will deter others from making crime a career or even taking a first false step.

Swift and certain justice is the greatest deterrent. In this country our forefathers had seen much of persecution by dictators and monarchs. They had seen streets run red with blood of men who had no jury trials. When our governments, national and state, were formulated in this country, particular attention was given to protection of the citizen from persecution. In so doing they made our procedure slow. The law's delay has become a matter of course. The British once had a system as slow as ours, but they introduced reforms and now hang a man in the time it takes us to get a jury in some cases.

We have rung all the changes in the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Certainty of bringing kidnappers to justice has been fairly well established since the so-called Lindbergh law passed by congress has enabled all the forces of the government to be arrayed against the criminal. It is a matter of note that while kidnapping was a month to month occurrence, practically every kidnapping case has been solved and the crime has about disappeared from the court calendars. But swiftness has not yet been established.

Hauptmann had all the privileges under all the laws of the state and national governments. There will be difference of opinion, most of the doubt having been created not during the trial but by activities of Governor Hoffman of New Jersey and detectives who were disregarded by the prosecuting agencies of the government, the state, and the county.

Many of us were of the opinion that Governor Hoffman knew something upon which he was basing his action. It now appears that he was only fishing for something that failed to materialize.

Having observed criminal processes and prosecutions at more or less close range many years, we venture the opinion now that the whole wrangle found its origin in jealousy on the part of detectives who were left on the outside.

Unity with which the federal, state, and county officials worked from beginning to end speaks volumes in their behalf and in relation to the ending of the case.

Disagreement among them caused by jealousy or the elemental differences in men and their minds would not have been strange. As a matter of fact, it might have been expected. Even then it would not have reflected upon the validity of the final findings unless one agency lost whole faith in the case.

When federal, state, and county officials stand on the same ground from beginning to end of a case that has had so many doubts created among those farther away from it, we place a great deal of confidence in what they say and what they do.

A VERY SAD STORY

Almost everybody is acquainted with the tragic story of one Matthew Mears, proud possessor of a clock which he wound daily for four and twenty years. We are led to believe that at the expiration of the period mentioned Mr. Mears discovered that the clock was an eight-day affair which he had wound 7512 times more often than needful in its career. A madder man than Matthew Mears you'd scarcely wish to see, suggests the poet.

Another story comes to light which has not yet been immortalized by any poet, yet it is just as interesting. A motion picture producer rented a barge for use in taking shots of some drama. During the course of the filming it was discovered that the barge had taken a decided list to starboard. The alarm was spread rapidly that it was sinking. All hands rushed to bail water out of an opening in the center. At noon that day, our informant reported, the list was just as serious as ever, and the men were bailing water furiously. By night the water hadn't receded an inch, but there was a determination not to give up the ship.

Heavy pumping apparatus was summoned and the big engines drew giant streams of water out of the "hold" and sprayed them back into the lake. Around 2 in the morning the head man, in desperation, put in a call for the man who built the barge.

"Your cheese box is sinking," waited the panting boss. "Come out and tell us what to do."

"Aw, dry up," retorted the designer. "That barge can't sink!"

"Neither could the Titanic!" yelled the movie boss. "Get out here and look at it. We've been barely able to keep her afloat."

So the barge expert hurried into his clothing and speeded by automobile to the lake. After a hurried investigation he reported as follows:

"You have been pumping and bailing water out of the lake and dumping it back into the lake. The barge has no bottom. It is only a raft supported by watertight steel drums at its edges. The thing tips sideways because your cargo is not distributed evenly."

Another tale ought to bring us to some sort of moral. A college man, hit by the depression, decided to begin gardening to replenish his cupboard. He worked enthusiastically from morn until night and kept the green things flourishing. Finally, one day, he confided to a neighbor that he had two kinds of Irish potatoes. The neighbor investigated and found that the college-bred gardener had been cultivating both ragweeds and potatoes with no discrimination whatever.

If there is any moral to these narratives it is that humans have a tendency to become confused and attach great importance to the wrong things. And the moral might apply to governments as well as men; especially to governments that wind things that do not need winding; pump money into bottomless holes and cultivate ragweeds along with the spuds.

THE TWINMATES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Wee Duncy and the old man went to work upon the fish. They spent about a half an hour. Then Duncy shouted, "It looks fine. 'There'll be just heaps for everyone. Oh, won't the lunch be lots of fun. I'm proud that I caught such a big fish on my little line. 'The frying pan is getting hot. Say, it is going to take a lot of wood to feed our blaze. Perhaps we'd better gather more. 'Oh, no," said Coppy, with a smile. "Right now we have a great big pile. You just want us to work until our legs and arms are sore."

"Let's put the fish into the pan, and cook it quickly as we can. Who's going to keep an eye on it? We must not let it burn. 'I'll take that job," said Dotty. "You all know that I know what to do. I've been to cooking school so there's not much I need to learn. 'It wasn't very long until the fish was sizzling. What a thrill! Fair Goldy shouted, 'I'm half starved."

from looking at that treat. "Let's make some forks of sticks and then we will be set to eat it when it's ready," Windy answered. "I will make them. They'll be neat."

He whittled fast for quite a while. "Oh, this one's mine," she shortly said. "It is a dandy one. 'Well, I'll have some for all the rest, and with them I will do my best," said Coppy. "They'll be finished by the time the fish is done."

At last the fish was nicely browned and all the Tines gathered 'round. "Just spear a piece," the old prospector shouted to the bunch. The Tines speared as best they could. "Oh, my, but this tastes mighty good," cried Dotty. "This is what I call a perfect home-cooked lunch."

DAILY HEALTH

APPENDICITIS POINTS.

A study of approximately 3,000 cases of appendicitis treated at the Cincinnati General hospital from 1915 to 1934, discloses some significant points.

Appendicitis is a disease of adolescence and young adult life. In the Cincinnati series the largest number of patients were between 21 and 30. Those falling in the age group between 11 and 20 stood next in number, and third came the group between 31 and 40. The disease is twice as common in the male as it is the female.

It was found in this study that the time elapsing between the onset of the symptoms and admission to the hospital for treatment average 3.8 days. This is much too long a period of waiting to assure the patient the best chances of recovery. Prolonged delay is undoubtedly responsible for the high percentage of perforated appendices and consequent complications.

Approximately 40 per cent of the cases suffered rupture of the appendix before they were operated on. Over 98 per cent of the deaths recorded in this series were due to complications which developed following the rupture of the appendix.

An astonishingly large number of patients still insist on purging themselves with cathartics, despite the fact that it has been shown repeatedly that the incidence of perforation and death is much greater among those who take cathartics when they have difficulty in their gastrointestinal tract.

"Radio announcements have not helped to reduce the mortality of acute appendicitis," says the report. "In one day we heard 44 different announcements over the radio for medicines which would relieve abdominal pains, gas, constipation and the like."

In case of a gastric upset, particularly where there is pain in the abdomen, nausea and vomiting, do not use a cathartic. Call a doctor and if the diagnosis of appendicitis is made and operation advised, don't delay.

Hurtling down to the plateau between two volcanoes, the huge, tri-motored liner caught fire, burning the bodies of the victims almost beyond recognition.

Kelly's Throne at Stake in Chicago

Chicago, April 8.—(AP)—Illinois' hottest Democratic primary in years roared into its final week today with observers agreed that big "Ed" Kelley's Chicago throne is involved.

The Chicago mayor, as the outstanding champion of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen for governor, is regarded as the man with the biggest stakes. To put his candidate over, said the dopesters, would give him added prestige, especially among the national leaders of the Democratic party.

But to lose to Gov. Henry Horner would entitle the mayor, it was the consensus, to the No. 1

Railroads Seek to Purchase Truck Co.

Washington, April 8.—(AP)—A joint move to create a system of coordinated truck lines to supplement rail service was made before the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday by the Union Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern and Burlington railroads.

The three asked authority jointly to purchase properties of the Union Transfer Company, operating in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, for $150,000.

With the purchase of additional facilities and other expenses, cost of setting up the coordinated system was placed at $600,000, which each road would provide $200,000.

Such a system, it was said, would bring "full coordination" between motor and rail lines throughout the territory.

FATHER TIME CATCHING UP TO MANAGERS

Pilots of the Major Leagues Aging Very Rapidly

Chicago, April 8.—(AP)—Old Father Time and his scythe may catch up with several major league playing managers this season.

If he does, there may be a general mowing down of high championship hopes long before baseball's pennant harvest next fall.

About half of the pilots in both leagues expect to be playing when the season opens. For several the "old rocking chair and slippers" age isn't far distant and the long grind, with hard baked fields in July and August, may force them to the bench and almost irreparably damage their team's chances.

Frankie Frisch appears ready for another fine season, but the "Fordham Flash" will be 38 before the regular season ends. If his legs happened to give out and the St. Louis Cardinals lost his great courage on the field at second their chances would suffer a bad blow.

Manager Charley Grimm of the National league champion Chicago Cubs waved young Phil Cavaretta to the sidelines and is going great guns in his first base comeback attempt. But Charley's nearing 37 and even if he keeps to his antipodato diet he may find the going tough.

Cochrane Is 33
Manager Mickey Cochrane's great leadership carried Detroit to two pennants and a world championship in two years. Mike was 33 yesterday and while he says he will catch 100 games this season, the Tiger's tail would be certain to drop at least a little if the fiery pilot were out of action through any cause.

Bill Terry of the New York Giants is 37 and many fans believe that on his performance at first this year depends the Giants' chances to finish one-two or three. It's much the same proposition with Pittsburgh's pilot and fine third sacker, Harold (Pie) Traynor, who is 36.

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is 38 and it's safe to say that if Jimmy had to leave the "hot corner" the Sox stock would go only one way, down. Jimmy Wilson, pilot and backstop of the Phillies admits 36 years.

Joe Cronin, head man of the Boston Red Sox, is a comparative youngster among the managers, being just 29, but on his return to the form he showed a few years back depends in a large measure the chances of his high-priced crew in the junior circuit race.

Here and There In Sports World
By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, April 8.—(AP)—Joe Cronin can never say his best friend wouldn't tell him... The latest crepe hanger is Dick Porter... Down at Gadsden the other day, Porter slipped the word to Joe that the prima donnas on the Red Sox would drive him nuts before the season is half over... Joe has heard this so much he doesn't even argue with the gloom dispensers any more.

Art Kahler is the only fellow we know who coaches major sports at two colleges... He's football coach at Dickinson and basketball mentor at Brown... Hal Price Headley's derby entry, Hollywood, always eats a midnight snack... Rex Clark, Texas Christian sprint star, had 'em smiling down at Fort Worth when he slipped off the hundred in 9.8... George Blake, perhaps the best boxing referee in the country, is giving up his right title to concentrate on officiating.

Col. Jake Ruppert's personal physician hopes Joe Dimaggio can play in ten days... Some of the sports writers have begun calling the A's the "Apathetics"... His most recent picture indicates Jimmy McLarnin has taken on plenty of poundage... Bill Terry's trick knee is the biggest of the Giant "ifs".

O. B. Keeler drew the wrath of all Atlanta when he said Bobby Jones wouldn't finish in the first ten at Augusta, but he was right... O. B. said Bobby has lost his competitive spark... and Bobby proved it... Sonja Heine drew 60,000 people to the Chicago Stadium in five performances... Is that something of an ice carnival record?... Sonja speaks four languages besides her native Norwegian.

Forty Schools in Bradford Relays; Trophies Classy

Interest in the Bradford relays to be held at Bradford high school Saturday, April 25, is growing rapidly with some 40 schools signifying intentions of competing. With three Chicago schools and the outstanding high schools in this section of the state competing the meet will bring together some of the best athletes in the state.

The meet offers an opportunity for every boy on the teams to compete. There will be a total of 23 events with 16 relays and 7 individual events. Trophies will be awarded to the winners of class A and B divisions with gold track shoes given to the members of each winning relay team and ribbons to each member of the other four places. Five medals will be given in each individual event. If the entry lists warrants trophies will be given to winner of each relay.

Entries close April 18.—The entry fee being $3.00 per school. For entry lists address Frank V. Wilcox, Bradford high school, Bradford, Illinois.

NEWS FROM BASEBALL CAMPS

Associated Press Sports Writers Tell of Activities of Major League Stars and Rookies.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nashville—The Browns, who beat High Point, N. C.—At least three Yankees will be waiting in New York while the team continues on its northward exhibition trek. Joe Di Maggio has been in the big city for a couple days for treatment to his instep while Pat Malone and Frankie Crosetti started on their way last night. Crosetti was struck on the face by a foul ball and Malone has tonsillitis.

Washington—Casey Stengel of the Dodgers plans to use Lindstrom in left field, Conney in center and Bordagaray in right when the season opens. As for Bordagaray, Stengel says: "You can't keep him out of there and on Sunday you're hurting yourself if you do. Frenchie's a great little guy when those seats are filled."

Hickory, N. C.—That first base job seems to be quite a load for a couple of Giants' first basemen to carry. Terry played four innings against the Indians yesterday and then ordered Sam Leslie to get out on the sack. Terry figured Sam's sprained knee was no worse than his sore knee.

Winston-Salem, N. C.—Babe Herman, last of the Reds' holdouts was expected to report here today as the team resumes the series with Detroit. Gene Schott, the only home town on the Reds roster, was slated to oppose General Crowder on the hill. Lee Sline, rookie hurler and Hub Walker were recovering from a slight attack of influenza which sent them to bed yesterday. Incidentally, it will be "Crowder Day" in this home town.

Hickory, N. C.—The Indians' ranks were reduced by one today as Walter Tauscher, veteran right handed pitcher bought on condition from Minneapolis, was given his outright release. He planned to rejoin Minneapolis. The Indians were here for their 12th spring game with the Giants.

Danville, Va.—Jimmy Wilson of the Phils has nominated Bucky Walters and Hal Kelleher to pitch against the A's in the annual city series Saturday and Sunday. Kelleher shared the mound duties with Moore against Atlanta yesterday.

Meridian, Miss.—The White Sox meet the Pirates today in the last game of their series. The game scheduled for Thursday at storm-stricken Tupelo, Miss., has been cancelled. Vernon Kennedy was nominated to start for the Sox today while Guy Bush was expected to twirl for the Pirates.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Cubs meet Birmingham today in what may be the last of their pre-season games. Fabian Kowalik and Charlie Root were scheduled to pitch.

ALLISON PICKS NET TEAM THAT DEFEATED HIM

Budge, Grant Chosen For Cup Opener With Mexico

Houston, Tex., April 8.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, captain of the United States Davis Cup team for the matches against Mexico, today assigned Bryan M. Grant and Don Budge to play the singles matches after they had wrecked his title hopes in the River Oaks tennis tournament.

Grant won his second consecutive River Oaks championship yesterday by defeating the 1935 national champion, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0. It was the first time in years that Allison had dropped the decisive set of a match without winning a game. Hopeful of salvaging at least a share of the doubles championship, the Texan then teamed with John Van Ryn against Budge and Gene Mako, but the colorful young Californians provided too much competition. They won 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. The performances of Grant and Budge convinced Captain Allison that they were qualified to handle the singles in the Davis Cup matches with Mexico, opening here Friday. Allison and Van Ryn will play the doubles.

Women Golfers Opening North South Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C., April 8.—(AP)—With the favorites apparently at the top of their game, match play was started today in the annual woman's North and South golf championship.

Deborah Verry, Worcester, Mass., winner of the Mid-South title last week, and co-medalist in the current event, had as her first round opponent Eline Nielson, Hackensack, N. J. Shooting an 81 over the No. 2 course, Soggy from recent rains, Miss Verry shared the medal with Kathryn Hemphill, a rising star from Columbia, S. C., who upset some of the veterans in the Florida campaign.

Sub-Strato Sea Hop, Air Ace's Aim

A 5000-mile sub-stratosphere flight from Dallas, Tex., to Paris, to test benefits of flying in lighter air, is the ambitious aim of Clarence Chamberlin, pioneer ocean pilot, right, with the type of plane he will use pictured above. The Douglas air liner, with two 1000-horsepower motors, will carry a navigator, radio equipment, about 1500 gallons of gas, and be sealed for liquid oxygen in the high altitudes. As the hop, set for June, will require 2000 gallons of gas, Chamberlin plans to refuel over New York, as indicated by the loop on the route shown in the map.

Christian Church

Rev. N. R. Bollinger, pastor

Passion week is upon us. We have the privilege of walking close to the Master through this week's experience. In our church, we will have devotional services on Thursday and Friday nights and we will observe communion on Friday night. All of this should prepare us for a great Easter experience. Let us begin the day right by attending our union service to be held at the Methodist church at sunrise. These union services have always been a real inspiration and a great contribution to the cause of Christian fellowship in our community.

Everyone will want to attend the Easter services in our various churches. We would like to have each one bring the card that has been given them and place it in the offering plate. This will register your attendance at the service. Your presence is a link number in our chain of fellowship. Please do not let the chain be broken by your absence. We would like to have our people use the pledge card if they have not already made a pledge to the church. Your pledge will be appreciated and will help to carry on our program of worship and service.

Many will want to accept Christ as King of their lives and as their personal savior. Others will want to place their membership in our church and enter into a fuller fellowship with us.

Church of the Brethren

The Church of the Brethren will have meetings four evenings on Tuesday to Friday of this week with sermons by the pastor. The subjects of the discourses and names of those who lead the worship follows: Tuesday, "Jesus, the Perfect Revelation of God," M. L. Kimmel. Wednesday, "Suffering for Others," W. C. Kleider. Thursday, "Jesus and Sinners," H. N. Butler. Friday, "The Cross and Forgiveness," W. E. West. There will be special music each evening.

Easter will be a busy day. We join in the sunrise service at the Methodist church at 6 o'clock. Sunday school at 10 o'clock with a goal of 250.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock.

Subject: "The Living Christ."

Evening worship at 7:45. The choir and young people will give

SUPER-GIANT OF AIR GETS ITS FIRST TEST

The world's greatest airship, the super-giant LZ-129, here is pictured as it emerges from its hangar at Friedrichshafen, Germany, for its inaugural flight over Lake Constance. Going through her paces under the watchful eyes of her commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, the mammoth air liner's trip was a complete success. Built at a cost of more than $3,500,000, the LZ-129 is 813 feet long, 145 feet high, and can carry 50 passengers. She is expected to cross the North Atlantic to Lakehurst, N. He understands farm problems and his record in farm legislation, when he was in congress, speaks for itself. He always advocated high tariffs to keep out competitive farm products.

He has, from the time he was state commander of the Sons of Veterans, constantly and consistently worked for the welfare of service men and their families, having personally secured satisfactory adjustment of more than 3,500 soldiers' claims.

Endorses Buck

An estimate of Clarence F. Buck by Gov. Frank O. Lowden:

"Upon my return home I find your letter of March 24. I greatly appreciate your writing me and am glad to have the information you give.

"Of course, I have the highest opinion of Clarence Buck. He was in the State Senate when I was Governor and during my entire term could always be depended upon to support all measures designed for the benefit of the people of Illinois and to oppose all measures which were not in their interest. While he held the office of Director of Agriculture of the state he discharged the duties of that important office admirably.

"He is able, constructive, with unblemished integrity, and in my opinion there is no office in the state which he would not fill creditably and to the benefit of the people.

"With cordial regards,

"Sincerely yours,

Frank O. Lowden."

NEWS of the CHURCHES

BRETHREN CHURCH

Another pre-Easter service at the Brethren church was enjoyed last night by those who gathered for worship and sang together beautiful hymns selected and led by Mrs. Ira Utz, with Mrs. Ada Underwood as pianist. The spirit of worship was felt as many led in short prayers and all united in singing as a response "Give Me Oil in My Lamp." The pastor of the church spoke last night on the subject of "Jesus Went a Little Farther," a statement concerning Jesus when he was in the garden of Gethsemane. He had taken three of his disciples, Peter, James and John and after entering the garden he left them alone while he "went a little farther" and there he prayed "and being in agony, he prayed more earnestly, and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground." The speaker referred to many ways and times in which Jesus went a little farther in his preaching, and living the great fields and principles he gave in which he went a little farther than any philosophy of religion had ever taught or practiced and today still stands out as the only savior and redeemer of mankind and is willing and able to lift men, and save men from sin and death. His invitation is extended to all mankind.

Tonight the Crusaders Sunday school class will conduct the service at 7:30. They have made considerable preparation and will no doubt conduct an impressive and helpful service and there should be a full house. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP NIGHT

The service at the First Christian church tonight is designated as Church Membership Night. The pastor will preach upon "The First Church." It is urged that members of the local organization make a special effort to be present. The church will lead in an inspiring song service and a special musical number will be rendered.

Last night's service was largely attended. Delegations from the C. I. C. class of girls and from Scout Troop 89 were present. Scoutmaster Kenneth Abbott, gave a report of the recent Court of Honor and Jamboree at Oregon last Saturday, in which Troop 89 won first honors with their aviation exhibits. A duet was sung by Misses Avis Ortgiesen and Marian Martin. The pastor brought an appealing message from the topic "A Lost Soul." He administered the ordinance of baptism to two converts at the close.

The services continue nightly at 7:30 over Easter.

Easter Week of Prayer

The missionary organizations of the church are uniting in three special afternoon prayer meetings this week. At tomorrow's meeting, the annual special Easter offerings will be received from the members. Mrs. S. A. Bennett will lead the meeting which will open at 2:30. Mrs. Winifred Wells was leader of Tuesday's meeting, representing the Guild. Mrs. Ethel Anderson, representing the Circle, had charge of today's meeting.

Marvin Hill, 28, tried to hold up a Chicago tavern with a toy pistol and was fatally shot by a patrol armed with a real gun.

HONEST COUNT OF COOK VOTE HORNER'S WISH

Is Reassured by Judge There Will Be Sufficient Watchers

Chicago, April 8.—(AP)—Albert J. Horan, bailiff of the Chicago municipal court and a candidate for re-election on the regular Democratic ticket, announced today his support of the candidacy of Gov. Horner and predicted the governor would be nominated next Tuesday by "tremendous majorities."

While Horan originally was known as a Horner man, he was placed on the ticket, headed by Dr. Herman N. Bundenes, Kelly-Nash organization candidate for governor, and given the endorsement of the county central committee.

As bailiff, Horan is credited with having one of the most powerful patronage jobs in Cook county. A former alderman, he is secretary of the managing committee of the county central committee.

Second to Switch
The bailiffs' action followed by one day that of James M. Whalen, veteran sixth ward committeeman, who also declared for Horner.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarrecki today assured Horner that all election officials would be subject to strict supervision.

"I have been told," Horner said, "that it doesn't make any difference how many votes I get—they won't be counted. I want particular care taken that all the judges in each polling place count every ballot."

After his talk with Judge Jarrecki, the governor said, he was certain "there would be a square deal."

A. J. McKay, chairman of the board of election commissioners, said he would ask Michael Igoe, U. S. district attorney, to furnish 200 deputy U. S. marshals at watchmen in "tough" districts, basing his request on the fact that federal officers are involved in the primary.

Battle Rages On
Meanwhile the oratorical battle between Horner and Dr. Herman N. Bundenes, his foe for the Democratic nomination as governor, raged on.

Bundenes charged that his opponent "was the tool of interests opposed to the re-election of President Roosevelt. Loyal Democrats are not fooled by pictures my opponent is placing in the newspapers showing himself seated at a table with the president."

Horner retorted by declaring Mayor Kelly "has been hiding behind others and now is dragging in false issues by their heels. Though trying to pass others, he has his own boss—a newspaper boss."

"Couple of Chubs"
Referring to charges that he had padded state payrolls in an effort to swing the primary, he declared State Treasurer John Stille and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, both of whom are candidates on the Bundenes slate, as "a couple of chubs."

"These two," the governor said, "were summoned to appear before the state civil service commission, but neither had the nerve to appear and present the name of a single man or woman not performing their services."

Woman Wild Driver Given 5 Days in Jail

Chicago.—"You women fought for equal rights with men. You have them. You drink like men. You smoke like men. You must be punished like men if you mix alcohol and gasoline."

Judge Eugene L. McGarry looked sternly down upon Mrs. Alice Anderson, 26, of 4906 Potomac ave. Her automobile crashed into two parked cars in front of 4947 Montana street Monday night.

Questioned in court, she confessed she was on the way home from a drinking party in a tavern. She only hung her head and declined to answer when the judge asked her if she could not have avoided the accident but for the liquor.

"Why you still smell of liquor!" he exclaimed.

As she was led away to begin serving five days in jail, the second the judge has imposed upon woman drivers for reckless driving in the past few weeks, he commented:

"I hate to send a woman to jail. But it hurts just as much to be hit by a woman's car as by a man's."

Mayer won the all-events title at Syracuse, N. Y., last year with a 2,022 total.

KNOX CONCLUDED HIS DOWNSTATE DRIVE LAST EVE

He Declares Democrats Have Fulfilled Socialists' Platform

Chicago, April 8.—(AP)—The Borah-Knox battle for Illinois' presidential endorsement began in earnest today. Regarded as one of the decisive engagements of the 1936 political wars, it could last only six days.

The state holds its preferential presidential primary April 14. It will register a choice then between the two Republican contenders—Col. Frank Knox of Chicago and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

The two compete in no other state, so that while the Illinois primary vote does not bind the delegates, it takes on unusual significance as a popularity contest.

The action today came from the senator. He began a stumping tour across Illinois with Col. Knox's campaign managers claiming that their candidate was far ahead. Edward A. Hayes, who directs the Knox activities, declared last Saturday the Chicagoan appeared certain to have the entire Illinois delegation.

Borah "Satisfied"

All the Idaho senator would say was that his reports from Illinois were "entirely satisfactory," despite the intensive campaign by Knox. His managers claimed the senator's tour would uncover much enthusiasm for him from the rank and file.

Observers generally agreed that only prestige was involved, since the Illinois delegation to the Cleveland convention may vote as it chooses, however, the popular vote runs.

Borah's tour, starting today, will take him to Peoria, Springfield, Decatur, Champaign, Danville and then to his birthplace, Fairfield. An address at Carbondale in the southern Illinois coal fields, winds up Saturday night.

Knox concluded his downstate campaigning last night in Rockford with an attack on New Deal policies, climaxing with the charge that the Democratic party "had callously repudiated six of the seven planks in its 1932 platform, all the while fulfilling 12 of the Socialist party planks."

Each Family Pays $50 Year Thru Sales Tax

"The average family in Illinois is paying more than $50 a year in sales tax," Len Small declared attacking the sales tax as "unjust and unfair."

"Of this $50, less than $10 reaches the unfortunate citizens on the relief rolls—the reason originally given for saddling the tax on the state. The remainder goes to support the huge army of pay-rollers who have been added to the burden of Illinois during the past few years."

The former governor, who is campaigning for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, pointed out that the sales tax was not a substitute for the property tax.

Taxes Tripled

"In Cook county alone," he declared, "the sales tax is taking three times as much tribute from the people as did the property tax, and is hitting the small homeowner hardest. The property tax assessment in 1928, my last year in office, was $12,000,000 in Cook county. In 1936, under the 3 per cent sales tax, the people of Cook county are paying more than $55,000,000, according to the official estimates."

He added that economy and the elimination of needless expenditures would permit the repeal of the sales tax.

Before help could be summoned the fire had gained such headway that there was no way in putting it out.

Buxton, pastor of the Methodist church in Dixon has a new picture projector, and has kindly consented to come and assist the pastor, Rev. Paul Studebaker.

No better way to spend the evening of Good Friday than in the Brethren church with the Passion Play. There is no charge, an offering will be taken. You will be very welcome if you do not have the offering. Plan to attend this service. Services will begin at 7:30 P. M. If there is an overflow crowd the pictures will be given the second time. The second Ogle County Merit Badge exposition, which was postponed in February due to impassable highways, was held at the Oregon Coliseum Saturday afternoon and evening.

Council now each fieldman's Scouting unit stages its own Merit Badge Exposition for the purpose of establishing some contacts with Scouting enthusiasts. Because both Lee and Ogle counties are supervised by Harold G. Boltz, field executive. Lee and Ogle counties combine in their annual merit badge exposition. Last year

"Come Seven"—Or Gold Standard

Witness: Yes, sir, that is right.
Attorney: You bet on prize fights, don't you?

Witness: No, I do not. I never bet on anything that talks.
The gambler voiced a hard-boiled philosophy which might be applied, with profit, to our present monetary situation.

Business will not, cannot, trust any standard of value that talks. There is a profound philosophy behind the statement that our government is a government by laws, and not by men.
The gold standard stands for a distinct philosophy of money. Extensive observation and much painful experience convinced the founders of our government that it is unsafe to bestow on any man or group of men the power to fix and change the value of money at all. Hence, they turned away from all politically controlled systems of money valuation and adopted one regulated by natural forces over which men have no control.

Substantial industrial progress in this country is impossible under any system of money whose value is subject to manipulation by any group of

BEGIN HERE TODAY

TOBY RYAN, 19, is a com-
graphs to be used in advertisements. She shares an apartment with HARRIET HOLM, also a model.

At a charity style show Toby meets wealthy TIM JAMIESON who showers her with attentions for a time. Tim leaves Toby for a few days, but the time stretches on and no word comes from him.

Harriet admits to Toby that the reason her marriage to CLYDE SABIN has been delayed is because Sabin is not yet divorced from his first wife.

HILL BRANDT, long a friend of Toby's, is employed by an advertising agency. Through HILL Toby is selected to pose for a series of advertisements for the Hillier Soap Company. The series is headed by the president of the company, and he takes her home in his car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXV
DURYEA telephoned for Toby to come to his studio the next morning. They were to start work at once on the series of photographs for the Hillier Soap company.

And set to work they did. It was harder than anything Toby had ever done, and not all of it was before the camera. Duryea sent her to a hairdresser—one whose name was famous. The hairdresser snipped and combed and waved, and when Toby saw the results she had to admit that it was an improvement.

Her hair must be kept in the same shining perfection, and so a series of regular appointments was made. Three times a week Toby went to the beauty salon. Her skin was flawless, but it, too, must be kept that way. An expert changed the line of her eyebrows slightly, while a manicurist worked on her nails. A young woman who seemed to know a great deal about cosmetics produced a powder that exactly blended with Toby's skin, a rouge so natural looking that it defied detection.

Duryea, who instituted these changes, insisted that that was important. Toby was not to have the artificial appearance of a sophisticated young woman. She was to be youth itself, radiant and untouched.

Her costumes were selected with this idea in mind. Dozens of boxes were delivered at the studio from one of the most exclusive shops in New York. Toby tried on the dresses and hats, and Duryea eyed them critically, making selections. When they had finished with them the costumes went back to the shop.

Harriet seemed almost more excited about all this than Toby herself.

"Maybe you'll be famous!" Harriet exclaimed. "You know there was that girl a few years ago. She wore a felt hat in a photograph for an advertisement—a plain felt hat, shaped and dented like a man's. It was an exclusive model, but in just a few days manufacturers all over the world were making hats like that. Everybody went crazy about it. And the girl who posed for the photograph got offers from the movies and from a big musical comedy."

"What did she do?" Toby asked.

"Well, she took the stage job for a while, and kept on posing and pretty soon she married an awfully rich man. They went away some place—I don't remember where. Just think, Toby! Maybe it will be like that with one of your pictures!"

"I don't think so."

But Harriet, apparently, saw in Clyde Sabin a knight in shining armor. She listened to his stories, eying him with rapt, smiling attention.

The food came and was served, and presently the orchestra played another number. This time Sabin asked Toby to dance.

Reluctantly, she agreed. No one,
Toby was determined, was to know her distance for the man.

The music was a fox trot, a melody for which extremely sentimental words had been provided. Sabin began to hum the tune softly as they moved off among the dancers. He was a good dancer; their steps were harmonious, smooth.

Sabin's hand tightened slightly on Toby's shoulder. "You're all right, baby," he said. "You and I can get along."

She turned, pretending not to hear, and asked, "Is that Harriet over there?"

"Where?"

But it was not Harriet, as Toby

"But it could be!"
Toby shook her head. "Things like that only happen once in a lifetime," she said. "Besides, I'm not looking for a rich husband."

"What kind are you looking for?"
"None."

THE news that Toby was the model chosen for the Hillier advertising campaign had reached other studios. Immediately the others wanted her to pose for them, too. Toby took as many of the assignments as she could, turned down the others. Rates for her services doubled.

She scarcely ever went out evenings. Usually she came home from work so tired that all she wanted was to drop into bed. And she must be fresh and rested in the morning. The slightest bit of tiredness in her face would show before the relentless camera.

Wary of this Spartan routine,
Toby agreed one evening to go out with Harriet and Clyde Sabin and Clyde's friend, Tom Gariside.

Tom Gariside worked for the same company as Clyde Sabin. He was a salesman, but he traveled in a different territory than Clyde.
Gariside had sandy hair and rather red cheeks and he slurred his words slightly. He told Toby that his family had lived in Virginia, and though he had left there long ago, yet he had dared to suggest that they should "slip out together" some afternoon. It was disgusting. It was outrageous.

The dreadful part was that Harriet was going to marry Clyde Sabin. It would be a hideous mistake—but what was there to be done about it? Harriet was in love with Sabin, counting the days until their marriage. There was no use to tell her that Sabin was a philanderer—or worse. Toby, with her instinctive dislike for him, was inclined to think he was much worse.

She knew suddenly that she could not stay through the evening, listening to Clyde Sabin's jokes and avoiding his eyes. She could not dance with Tom Gariside and be trampled by his clumsy feet.

Toby leaned toward Harriet. She said, "Listen, my head's aching fearfully. I think it must have been the lights this afternoon. I had to stand under them for so long. I don't want anyone to come with me, but I'm going home."

"They wouldn't hear to her going alone. Instead, Sabin paid the check and they all got into a cab and rode to the apartment. Harriet was concerned but Toby insisted she would be quite all right alone and that the others should go on. After a time they did.

Toby went upstairs, undressed and slipped into a negligee. She was still rattling at Sabin, dismayed at the thought of his marriage to Harriet.

She turned out all the lights except the parchment-shaded table lamp. Then she sank down on the davenport and leaned back against the cushions. Why did anyone as sweet as Harriet have to fall in love with a man like Clyde Sabin?
Why were so many things like that?

The telephone shrilled and she crossed the room to answer it.
Toby said, "Hello," and a man's voice answered.

For a tremulous instant her heart seemed to stop completely.
It was Tim Jamieson.

PAW PAW NEWS

BY MRS. JOHN UREY

Faw Paw—A council called by the Baptist church for the purpose of ordaining the pastor, George Vouga, met at the church Monday. Pastors delegates and visitors from other church to the number of 50 were present. Dr. Taft and Dr. Whitesell from the Northern Baptist seminary, 10 pastors from the Ottawa Baptist association, Rev. O'Neill from Spring Green, Wis., and Rev. Duman of Chicago were among the number. The afternoon session was spent in hearing Mr. Vouga's testimony as to his Christian experience, his call to the ministry and his views of Christian doctrine. The statement was followed by questions from the council. The council expressed complete satisfaction with the entire statement. At the evening session the church proceeded with the ordination service. Dr. Whitesell of the Northern Baptist Seminary gave the address of the evening. Dr. Taft of the seminary gave the charge to the candidate and Rev. Shepley of Princeton gave the charge to the church. Rev. Duman of Chicago gave the ordination prayer. Dr. Orr of Marquette gave the hand of fellowship. An ordination prayer, written by Mrs. Vouga's aunt, was sung by Mrs. Hoffman, a sister of Mrs. Vouga. It was a spiritual treat to those who were present. The ladies of the church served supper to the visitors. Following is the prayer that was written by an aunt and sung by Mrs. Vouga's sister-in-law:

AN ORDINATION PRAYER.

Irene Fleming.
Shepherd of souls, with rod and staff protecting.
The sheep for whom Thy holy blood was shed.
Teach Thou Thy servant here before Thee bending.
The way to tread.

Master of men who spake to Peter's pardon.
Then told him both, Thy sheep and lambs to feed.
Grant to Thy servant, in the pastures verdant.
Thy flock to lead.
Healer of men, whose blood avail-

eth ever,
To cure the sickness of the soul diseased.
Grant to Thy servant power to bring The worst of these.

Lover of men, whose most divine compassion
Drew weary souls to look into Thy face,
Grant to Thy servant, humbly from Thee learning,
Like tender grace.

While on his head, ordaining hands are resting,
Do Thou ordain him in this holy place,
And may Thy servant, till his work is ended, Receive Thy grace.

Then shall the call at last to come up higher
Ring in the ears that long have known Thy voice,
Then shall Thy servant, earthly labor ended,
In Thee rejoice.

M. Mannington Dexter.

church of Paw Paw, Ill., March 30, 1936.)

HARMON NEWS

BY MARGARET ANDERSON

HARMON—I. H. Perkins was a business caller in Sterling Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hofman and baby were out from Sterling and spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Eddy.

Miss Mary Leonard spent a few days in Sterling this week with relatives.

Friends and relatives here of Edward Currans, who has been a patient in the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital in Dixon for the past several weeks are pleased to learn that he is showing improvement and is on the road to rapid recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McInerney were visitors in Sterling one day this week.

The bettered condition of gravelled roads in this vicinity which was brought about by good weather, has all been undone by the recent heavy and wet snow.

Howard Grim, Francis Pashon and George Hermes were injured on Thursday morning while at work in a factory in Sterling, when an iron double door fell upon them. They were removed to the Home hospital in the Trough ambulance and the latter two were discharged from the hospital after their injuries were dressed. Mr. Grim's jaw was dislocated and he will remain in the hospital for further observation. The men were at work in front of the door and another workman was working on the door when it became unbalanced and fell on them. It was at first feared that they were more seriously injured. Mr. Hermes, who has many relatives and friends here, had his left arm bruised, and Mr. Pashon's hand was injured. X-ray pictures disclosed the fracture of Mr. Grim's jaw and this was set. It is expected that he will get along all right. It is not believed that he suffered any other injuries.

Perennials

A GOOD RULE to follow in planting perennials is to place them a little closer than half their own height. Plants growing two feet or so high, should be a foot apart.

IN TRANSPLANTING perennials from one location to another, take a good sized ball of soil around the roots. If this is done almost any perennial may be moved.

THE EARLIER in the Spring that your new perennials are set out, the better plants they will be another year.

PERENNIALS are the backbone of your garden. Blooming year after year, they give permanency while the annuals give changing variety from year to year.

NOTHING IS more pleasing than a properly planned perennial border. It requires, however, a careful study of both the flowering season and the heights of the plants to be used.

LEAVE YOUR daffodils in the ground through the winter. At intervals of two or three years they should be dug up, held all winter and replanted.

A DRINKING FOUNTAIN and bird bath in the garden will interest the children. The birds will help in keeping down the troublesome garden insects.

PICK THE faded flowers from your pansies. If this is done and they are in a location where they receive shade for a part of the day, they will continue blooming up to frost.

IF YOUR peonies do not bloom it is usually one of four reasons: Too deep planting, lack of sunlight, deficiency in moisture, or a late frost that has injured the bloom but not the hardy plant.

SAVING SEED is seldom successful for the amateur. New seed is not expensive and you can be sure that cross-fertilization or other conditions have not materially affected them.

of the Whiteside county emergency relief.

The heavens presented an unusual and beautiful sight on Thursday night. There was a large circle around the moon, the top of which in the north appeared almost like a rainbow. There was another circle that appeared to cut right through the moon. The sight attracted the attention of a great many people.

Mrs. Thomas Rock and Mrs. Will Dunphy motored to Sterling on Wednesday and visited at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. James Blackburn.

D. D. Considine and wife were callers in Dixon on Monday afternoon.

Miss Jane O'Connell spent Sunday in Sterling with the Misses Mary Jane Killian and Janet O'Connell.

Johnnie Long was out from Dixon the latter part of the week.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Grennen of Sterling is ill with scarlet fever.

The Thomas McInerney house caught fire on Monday when the chimney burned out. The quick actions of their hired man John Miller, with the assistance of the neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade saved the house, with but a slight damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Zentz were callers in Amboy Saturday afternoon.

Miss Stephentich of Sublette visited here with Miss Margaret Koehler.

The interior and roof of the D. D. Considine house occupied by the Hammer family was totally destroyed by fire from a defective chimney on Saturday night. The fire department was called and a lot of damage was done by water.

Miss Lucile Petri was very pleasantly surprised in honor of her birthday anniversary. Games and 500 was played. In "500" Miss Helen Schoaf and Lloyd Swab were awarded the head prizes. The guests also brought a delicious lunch consisting of jello, cake, pickles and coffee. They departed for their homes after a very pleasant evening, wishing Miss Petri many more happy birthdays.

Miss Corrine Yanovitch and her brother were here from Peoria and spent a few days with relatives and friends.
